

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A recording apparatus for effecting recording on a recording material by recording means, the apparatus includes a tray, mountable to the recording apparatus, for stacking a recording material; a feeding roller for feeding the tray; a portion to be detected, provided on the tray to permit detection of a position of the tray; a tray position detecting portion for detecting the portion to be detected; wherein a position of recording material stacked on the tray is detected by detecting the position of the portion to be detected.

15

20

25